VI. Report on Teens Reducing Alcohol Consumption Program and summer activities with presentations from program participants and Monica Martinez, ICOE.

Monica Martinez presented a handout that showed an overview of the program. The TRAC (Teens Reducing Alcohol Consumption) Grant was awarded to the Student Well Being and Family Resource Department at Imperial County Office of Education over a year ago. The program is being implemented at four high schools, Calexico High, Holtville High, Calipatria High and Brawley Union High. It is an alcohol prevention and intervention program, its purpose is to educate and increase awareness about the critical health issues linked to alcohol consumption. The program begins with an education series using a science-validated curriculum, Project Success, which is implemented in all each of the High schools. After the education series is completed, there are support groups to keep students involved in the program. There are many Leadership activities that the students get involved with such as a Leadership Camp at Camp Stevens, Julian. There are usually 4 to 5 camps each year, each lasting approximately 2 days. The TRAC program also holds safety seminars, and supports Friday Night Live Chapters at each of the 4 high schools. Parent involvement is in the beginning stages for the TRAC program, the first step was Town Hall Meetings. A Town Hall Meeting was held in each city where the TRAC program has been established. Parent feedback was extremely positive, parents were very interested in continuing to receive information on alcohol, tobacco and other drugs. The TRAC program also tries to get the students to organize different activities and events at their school so the entire student population can be affected, not just the students involved. This summer there will be several activities planned in order to maintain involvement throughout the year. For additional information on the program you may contact the Student Well Being and Family Resource Department at 312-6498.

VII. Report on Community Mental Health Assessment – Community Services and Support Plan by Amelia Rosa Carlos, IC Behavioral Health Services

Amelia Rosa Carlos informed the committee that it was one year ago that she came to the committee to present some information on the Mental Health Services Act, which was a new proposition that passed in November, 2004. Behavioral Health is currently in the process of meeting all the requirements of the Mental Health Services Act. They conducted an extensive planning process throughout the year, and have been working very hard with different agencies and committees. a draft plan is now ready. Amelia provided an executive summary of the plan for the committee to review, the actual plan is over 300 pages, this is a condensed version. She encouraged the committee to review the plan and provide feedback. The intent of the Mental Health Services Act is trying to increase participation of consumers and family involvement. All of the programs put together by Imperial County Behavioral Health Services involves consumers at every level. Another intent is to increase outreach, it is clear from community feedback that they need to go out into the community and increase outreach and expand services. Increasing the array of services available to the mental ill is another intent of the Act, unfortunately there are not that many resources available for them. When they were in the planning process they went out into the community and asked what kind of issues the program should focus on. The issues are listed on page 5 of the draft. Janet Thornburg advised the committee that the Mental Health Services Act is divided into four categories: Children/Youth; Transition Age Youth; Adults; and Older Adults. For children services they are putting together a Ward Access to Services and Supports program, it is a full service partnership program, which means it is a enrolled based program, they can only provide services for approximately 10 kids per year. Some of the services that will be provided are clothing, housing, and services to the family. The target population is seriously, emotionally disturbed youth ages 12 – 15. This age group consists of kids that are going to be exiting juvenile hall, Behavioral Health will be assisting them in returning to the community. The next age group is TAY (Transition Age Youth) these are kids that are 16 – 25. They will be assisting them transition into any type of adult service program. For adults aged 18 - 25 they will be providing services to help them transition out of the criminal system and back to the community. The older adult program is designed to assist adults 65+ who are isolated or homebound. Another expanded program that Behavioral Health Services provides is a Club House which provides services to mental ill adults, there are activities, counseling, fund raisers, and help them with daily living activities. They want to expand the program to provide peer services, to encourage and hire mental ill consumers to provide peer support services. Funds were set aside for outreach and engagement, to inform community about services. The community really need to be informed about the services that are available also need to educate on the stigma attached to mental health. Janet Thornburg informed the committee that copies of the plan are available in the Public Libraries, the Family Resource Centers, the One Stop Offices, and she also has a copy in her office. There will be a public hearing on May 22, 2006 at 7:00 p.m. Amelia urged the committee to read full version of the plan and to provide input.

Arrangements are being made to have Catholic Charities in the next meeting to provide a current county homeless count.

B. ISC Coordinator Update

Janet Thornburg informed the committee that each of the 4 communities, Calexico, Brawley, Holtville, and Calipatria, have had follow up Town Hall Meetings. Each community was different, what worked in one, did not always work in others. The new Chief for the California Highway patrol attended the last Calipatria meeting, he knew underage drinking was a problem, but didn't understand the developing brain issues that we now know about and how critical it is to prevent drinking among adolescents. The Public Health Department and the County Office of Emergency Services had a disaster drill May 11, 2006. The scenario was built around a terrorist release of pneumonic plague south of the Mexican border, and how would county schools deal with it. A number of interesting things took place including the fact that a few people who had scanners on their radio system heard the message and thought that it was real, publicity was done to prevent this, however, a couple of people still were unaware. A lot was learned. All 63 school sites have emergency response information in a binder, the order of the information is going to be changed to make it more accessible. Janet encouraged the committee to participate in drills if given the opportunity. Bruce Coon informed the committee that AmeriCorp member had assisted with role playing during medication distribution scenarios. These scenarios help develop what works and what doesn't, it was extremely valuable.
